

Marketing Meeting Adds More Value

DERA has always offered its members something extra for their marketing meetings. Held every Friday at 8:30am, REALTORS® attending the meeting not only get a chance to promote their listings to those attending the meetings, but also have an opportunity to see those listings sent out via email to all our members. Talk about doubling (or more) the benefit.

In addition, each meeting will present industry related information at no charge. Think of the valuable information you can obtain each week for only an hour of your time.

DERA is tallying the success of these meetings and the results are great. If you haven't been to a DERA Marketing Meeting lately (or not at all) come try it. The time spent will be well worth it.
